PORT ELMSELEY.

The fishing has been quite different this spring at this place than in former years perhaps owing to the ice melting out early and followed by weather which caused the fish to come out early. The run of pike was larger than usual and longer, the run of other fish was on spurts, at one time so plentiful that could be taken by hundreds while perhaps just the next day not a fish could be seen and many a fisher after tiring quite a long distance was appointed and had to go empty.

On Thursday morning of last week seven head of young cattle belonging to Mr. James Morin strayed out of pasture to the railroad track and ran into by a passing train. Strange to say only one out of seven was left to tell the tale. Two were killed and one badly bruised and mangled when found and will probably die. Two or three hours later on the same morning several young cattle belonging to Mr. Robert Gambell ran out to Mr. Morin were on the track and were run through by two freight trains and strange to say not one of them were injured in the least, fact being having a little race with the freight as they passed.
